ELKS WORRIED OVER CARE OF BIG CROWDS

Lack of Accommodations at Bedford Cause of Concern at Harding's Visit.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 22.—The Elks National Home and the committee from the Lynchburg and Roanoke lodges, which are co-operating in preparations for the visit of President-elect Harding, are not a little anxious as to the solution of the problem of handling the crowds which appear certain to journey to that place Sunday after next. If the weather is fine the meeting will be in the open, but if it is cold or inclement the exercises will be forced to the auditorium of the national home and that will cause the solution of the general public, limiting the meeting to Elks only.

Fred Harding, exalted ruler of the order, who is chairman of the Lynchburg co-operating committee, says delegations are coming from Danville, Norfolk, Baltimore, Washington and other nearby cities, while hundreds of Elks have written from all parts of the country that they will be here.

Among the grand lodge officials to be present is W. M. Abbott, of San Francisco, the grand exalted ruler, who will make the trip across the continent for the occasion. President-elect Harding promised a number of Elks that he would make the address, the promise having been given before the National Republican Convention and Senator Harding is coming from his Southern trip short to keep the long-standing engagement.

LYNCHBURG Elks will go to Bedford by special train for the memorial service at the national home, and the Elks will be in the city to co-operate with the national home.

Scientists Ponder Over Whale's Legs' Utility

[By Associated Press.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Capture of the coast of British Columbia of a remarkable humpback whale with two hind limbs became known here recently when the bones of the unique appendages of Natural History. Scientists attached to the museum thumbed their noses on evolution, and concluded the legs might have been a singular reversion to primitive type.

There was no earthly or watery reason for the reversion, the whale found on the British Columbia coast. It couldn't walk on them, as they were but four feet long, while the whale weighed several tons. It couldn't use them for swimming, as they were not flippers, nor were the pedal extremities webbed.

But now they are the subject of lectures, lantern slides and profound discussion.

BAR OVERCROWDED, SAYS JOHN GARLAND POLLARD

Urges Young Men to Enter Legal Profession and Help Cleanse Politics.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 22.—That the legal profession is already overcrowded, but that it offers opportunity for service, especially in making politics clean, were major points driven home by John Garland Pollard, member of the Federal Trade Commission, in speaking at a dinner service Sunday in William and Mary College chapel.

The former Attorney-General of Virginia, said a lawyer must possess moral integrity, persistent industry, self-confidence, art of expression, tact, sense, power of analysis, gift of sympathy and an understanding of the frailties of nature. He declared there are now 126,000 lawyers in the United States, or one to every 500 of the population.

As essential to building a sound foundation, broad and deep and straight, for practicing law, the distinguished visitor urged the study of history, literature, logic, accountancy, and the art of expression.

Mr. Pollard stated that less than 1 per cent of America's population is college graduates, but this 1 per cent has won greater achievement in public life than the 99 per cent. Twenty of the twenty-eight Presidents of the United States have been lawyers, he asserted. The practice of law is no secure, he affirmed in vigorous terms.

If politics are dirty, Mr. Pollard stated, lawyers and men of moral integrity have all the more reason to enter politics, and help cleanse it.

After paying high tribute to William and Mary's glorious history, Judge Pollard averred he was more interested in the college's future. He predicted a healthy growth for the college under Dr. J. A. C. Chandler's leadership, which he termed brilliant.
